Bruce, all – we'd be happy to help. I'll defer to Sue Fry, our Bay-Delta Office Manager, on how to proceed. There are several people in our office who are pretty well-equipped to discuss these topics.
Best, Mike

Subject: bdcg questions

Mike,

EPA is trying to respond to the request for input on BDCP alternatives, but I find myself at sea in trying to understand what is already being considered. I understand much of my confusion comes from my lack of involvement in the process to date and that another hunk arises from the dynamic nature of the process itself.

It would help immensely if you or someone at BOR else with a broad view of current alternatives under discussion could meet with me and several of my colleagues in walking through the current view and answering questions. Is that possible? Soon enough to allow us to have meaningful input on possible other operational alternatives with particular regard to Clean Water Act issues?

thanks

Bruce
